AROUND THE TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Moore from Petrolia, Ont., are visiting with their son, Dr. W. G. Moore.

Dave Dickson is back again at the C. P. R. depot after spending a holiday in B. C.

E. Lindquist took a carload of out to the east country on Wednesday.

Do you want to take a European trip this summer? See the ad.
on page 8 and find out how to do it.

Steve Stevens started with a bunch of thirty horses for sale out through the east country on Monday.

Rev. J. S. and Mrs. Daum returned from their visit to eastern Canada and the N. S. on Saturday last.

R. Whitely and W. H. Whitely, the new publishers of the Crossfield Chronicle, were callers at this office on Tuesday.

Miss Beatrice Liesemer is home from Edmonton spending her holidays with her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. J. E. Liesemer.

Harry Gibson traded his stallion, "Fred," to Steve Stevens on Monday. A mare and some collateral figured in the deal.

C. Hiebert was a visitor at Edmonton on Saturday, returning home on Sunday and leaving again for Calgary on Monday afternoon's train.

The next game of baseball to be played on the home grounds will be played on Tuesday night next between Didsbury and Olds.
Come out and root for the boys.

S. A. Frank, the artist who painted Mayor Slatton's portrait for the Calgary City Hall, is visiting Didsbury every week. If you want to learn to paint call on him at the Alexandra Hotel.

Mrs. Ed. McKinney of Sunnyslope returned from the Calgary
General Hospital on Monday morning much improved in health. Mr. and Mrs. McKinney returned to the Slope on Monday afternoon.

J. A. Findlay started on a long automobile trip on Monday morning with some travellers. The start was made from Red Deer and they will cover a wide circle of territory northeast and east before returning.

Saturday next, May 24th, is a legal Dominion holiday and the banks and all stores will be closed on that day. The postoffice will be open for a short time after the morning train from the south and when the afternoon train from the north comes in.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryckman, Sr.,
father and mother of Mack Ryck-man, returned to Didsbury from Bellingham, Wash., where they have been residing for the last two years, on Friday last. Mr.
Ryckman states that he is glad to be back again and that Didsbury is good enough for him.

"The Spinsters Convention" will be given in the Opera House on Thursday night, May 29th (tonight), at 8.30 by the Ladies Aid of Olds under the auspices of the

Vice-President—

Hon. A. C. RUTHERFORD, K.C.

Head Office, EDMONTON.

ARE you desirous of becoming a good musician? Would you like to have an accomplishment which can be really useful? Do you realize what an asset it may be to you in your life?

REASON with yourself whether you are making the best of the talent you may possess. Be convinced you are making the most of your opportunities. If uncertain,

TEST THE MERITS of our splendid system. It will stand investigation. Apply yourself under correct guidance and you may feel reasonably certain of becoming a good musician

This is the only Conservatory which is owned by Canadians, the head office of the Alberta branch being in Edmonton, where all lessons are sent for correction, pupils receiving them back with but little delay. Other branches are established in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Guelph, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The World's Best Liniment
Needed In Every Family
From Infancy To Old Age

If Your Home Is Without 'Nerviline'
Read the Following Closely.

The high cost of living to-day demands economy on every side. Sickness is expensive. Far better to treat little ills before they grow serious. For this reason every home should have handy on the shelf a good remedy like Nerviline, which cures the minor ailments that occur in every family.

For example, when the boy comes in with wet feet and a light cough, Nerviline will cure him. If a cold has settled on his chest, rub on Nerviline and the cold will go.

If something has been eaten that causes cramps, nausea, or diarrhoea, just twenty drops of Nerviline—that's all and cure is effected.

As a liniment for outward application in case of Neuralgia, Lamé Back, Sciatica, Lumbago or Rheumatism, it's really hard to imagine how Nerviline relieves and how soon it cures.

Nerviline is nothing new. No, it's one of the oldest and best known remedies. Used in thousands of homes by the people of many nations, simply because it stops pain, cures sickness, and rids the family of ills before they become troublesome. Get the family size bottle, price 50c.; trial size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhzone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

The professor was returning home one night from a scientific meeting still pondering over the subject. He had reached his room in safety when he heard a noise which seemed to come from under the bed.

Is someone there? he asked.
No, professor, answered the intruder, who knew of the professor's peculiarities.

That's strange. I was positive someone was under my bed, commented the learned man.

IMPURE BLOOD IN THE SPRING

The Passing of Winter Leaves People Weak and Depressed.

As winter passes away it leaves many people feeling weak, depressed and easily tired. The body lacks that vital force and energy which pure blood alone can give.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an all-year-round blood builder and nerve tonic, but they are especially useful in the spring. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red blood. Returning strength commences with their use and the vigor and cheerfulness of good health quickly follows.

There is just one cure for lack of blood and that is more blood. Food is the material from which blood is made, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills double the value of the food we eat. They give strength, tone up the stomach and weak digestion, clear the complexion of pimples, eruptions and boils, and drive out rheumatic poisons.

If you are pale and sallow, if you feel continually tired out, breathless after slight exertion, if you have headaches or backaches, if you are irritable and nervous, if your joints ache, if your appetite fails and food does not nourish nor sleep refresh you, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will make you well and strong. To build up the blood is the special purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and that is why they are the best spring medicine. If you feel the need of a tonic at this season give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will rejoice in new health, new strength and new energy. Do not let the trying weather of summer find you weak and ailing. Build yourself up now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—the pills that strengthen.

Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and do not be persuaded to take something else. If your dealer does not keep these Pills they will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHETHER for a silo, a milk-house, or a million bushel grain elevator, concrete is the most economical building material in use to-day.

Concrete never requires repair, and the saving in repair-expense alone makes the greater economy of using concrete more apparent every day. The cost of other building materials is constantly increasing. The cost of concrete is being reduced.

Canada Cement

which Canadian farmers use, with their own sand, stone and gravel to make concrete, is the only ingredient you have to buy.

We have, by reason of our large output and scientific methods, been able to bring the price of "Canada" Cement so low that it is within the reach of everyone.

An increase in demand results in a greater economy of production, and when conditions have warranted it, we have, from time to time, shared this saving with the consumer by reducing the price of Canada Cement. This demand will continue to increase—as fast as farmers learn of concrete's superiority over other materials.

When you buy cement, see that you get "Canada" Cement; by so doing you will assure the complete success of all your concrete work.

Council Meets

The Council met on Monday night in the Council chambers, Mayor Atkins, Councillors Osmond, Sinclair, Chambers, Purrer, Moyle, Secretary St. Clair and Solicitor Patterson present; Councillor Cooper absent.

Amongst some communications received by the Secretary were two addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Trade. One was asking the Board to appoint crop correspondents to send in reports to the government at Edmonton, the other was a document from the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, asking for all the information about the town for publicity purposes. Secretary St. Clair and Coun. Osmond will file in the latter document.

A few small bills were ordered paid. Coun. Moyle, chairman of the Board of Public Works, brought in a report as to the work absolutely needed on the roads this year, which is as follows: Culvert at Shantz's corner, grading and ditching small part of blind line, culvert on King Edward street, culvert on Boundary street putting brick and gravel on block between Osier and Hespeler street on Railway avenue.

The report was discussed clause by clause and adopted by Council.

The sanitary condition of the laneways was discussed and Coun. Osmond stated that he had ordered Sanitary Constable Sick to notify every person to have the laneways cleaned within ten days from time of notice, which was given about twelve days ago, but there had been considerable bad weather during that time. It was decided that a few days grace should be given to delinquents and then if the work is not done Coun. Osmond will order the drayman to go after these laneways not cleaned out and the cost will be charged to the property.

J. McFarlane wants the electric light service put to his house in east Didsbury. Coun. Chambers, Chairman of Light Committee, was instructed to go ahead with the work. The Council then adjourned.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey of Newburg Junction, N. B., writes, "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effective and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

Yes, of course, that would settle the matter. They would not have a leg to stand on.

That evidence is in existence, the great statesmen went on in the same cold, calm tones. We know it for a fact.

But surely it can be obtained. It must be obtained, Murgatroyd was deeply excited and his eyes glowed with the fire of which his mind supplied the fuel. In this respect he was a great contrast to his vis-a-vis, who had infinitely more at stake.

That depends upon yourself. Upon me? Yet the statement did not take the listener by surprise. For he had felt the preface had been leading up to the commission.

Yes, I have fixed upon you—after long deliberation. It is not altogether a pleasant task apart from its difficulty; but I think, if I read you right you will shrink neither the difficulty nor the unpleasantness.

That I certainly will not. The papers are in the possession of a certain Mr. Muller, who lives in a remote Devonshire village called Tormouth. It lies out of the beaten track, four miles from a railway station—Bishop's Monkland; the last part of the way is covered by a coach. Bishop's Monkland, as probably you

PIMPLES ITCHED AND BURNED

On Arms and Legs. Caused Running Sores. Would Tear Himself Till They Bled. Like Open Wounds. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

53 Stewart St., Toronto, Ontario.—"When my baby was nine months old he had a lot of pimples come on his arms and legs which used to come to a head, then break and cause running sores. They were bright red spots, which itched and burned so badly that he would tear himself till he made them bleed and they were all like open wounds. They were on his face and arms so bad that I did not like to take him out. He could not sleep or rest anywhere. I tried several things at home and lots of different things people used to advise me, but he did not get a bit better.

"I bathed each place in warm water and Cuticura Soap and then I put some of the Cuticura Ointment on and bound them up in soft rags and he slept better that night than he had for three weeks, and he did not scratch himself once that night. I did that for three days, night and morning, when we noticed the sores were getting drier and healing, so I bought a box of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and after a week and a few days there was not a blemish on him."

know, is on the main line of the S. W. R.

I have heard of it; although Devonshire is a terra incognita to me.

We have tried to get at Mr. Muller by every means in our power, without directly approaching him ourselves; but he has proved obdurate. He is a German by extraction, and in politics he is opposed to us.

Most men have a price.

We cannot find his. Perhaps you can. He is rich, and has only two weaknesses, I am told—horses and whist. If you are willing to go west, you will have to make his acquaintance through one of these channels. You ride, I am informed, remarkably well, and most men play whist.

The 'Celestials' require it as one of the thirty-nine articles of membership.

A proof of their discretion. I want you to understand that we do not care about the originals, as long as we can speak with absolute confidence of the exact expressions used in the parchments.

In fact, if we can show our trumps there will be no necessity to play the hand out. Our opponents abroad and our critics at home—the debate, as you know, will come on with the Address in about a fortnight's time—will have in it these documents contain what we feel assured they do; but someone must see them and make a copy. That someone is yourself. You understand, Mr. Murgatroyd.

Perfectly. In any case the Government knows nothing of you if you fail—and only indirectly if you succeed—unless the papers are handed to you voluntarily for our use.

Which you do not anticipate? Which I do not anticipate. The papers, we have reason to know, are kept in a safe in Mr. Muller's bedroom. One word more as to getting to know him—for that is essential. I understand he frequently sends over to the hotel—a well-known hunting and fishing centre; I forget what it is called, but there is only one—for someone to make up his whist-table; and a hunting stranger well mounted is almost sure of an invitation to dinner, for Mr. Muller is nothing if not hospitable. With these two strings to your bow the entree ought not to be difficult; it is not the premier but the dervish pas which is the crux this time.

How about the well-mounted? I have a horse in town which has often carried me with the Queen's Stag Hounds.

Do not trouble, Mr. Murgatroyd. A friend of ours will send you a couple over to the hotel which will stand Mr. Muller's scrutiny.

Supposing any questions are asked about them? The best of a question is that it need not be answered. There is always the alternative of asking another.

Especially when a journalist is interrogated?

I was thinking of diplomatists. Both men had risen.

Nothing has been said about a reward for your services—if you merit one. Sir Richard was looking at his ally. The latter flushed—this time not with pleasure.

Do not be annoyed. I could not receive, and you could not give to me a great service demanding time, tact and trouble without a recompense. I have tried to find out what you would like.

I do not know myself.

Murgatroyd looked at him with mute surprise. Sir Richard half smiled.

I have not pried into your private affairs; but the gossip of the clubs tells me you are a journalist by choice and not necessity, and ample means leave you independent of the financial rewards of a profession which attracts you from the power at the back of it.

You regard the Press as the pulpit of the State?

That is true.

There is another sphere—the House of Commons. In the Press the individual, however versatile and accomplished in these days of unsigned philippics, sinks his personality in the paper. To sway the House of Commons, to quicken it to enthusiasm, to win its critical approval—this is an experience, personal and individual, all your own. Then changing his tone and lowering his voice to the confidential pitch—What do you say, Mr. Murgatroyd, to a seat in the House of Commons?

I should like it above all things.

One of our side is only waiting the signal to retire—his seat is perfectly safe, the majority runs well into four figures—there is a delightful buoyancy and freedom about a four-figure majority. The constituency is a Metropolitan one. Then after a pause—I have the absolute disposal of it, although we do not exactly say that—to the constituency; which of course makes an unfettered choice—the last sentence with a sarcastic inflection well known and valued in the House of Commons. It will certainly be offered to the man who helps us to circumvent the enemies of our country and of our party.

He rang the bell and a footman appeared. The interview was over. As Murgatroyd crossed the hall, a light, quick step passed simultaneously over the linoleum from a room opposite. Maud Hanley was lying in wait for him. She had changed her gown and was already in evening dress, showing a shapely neck to advantage, reminding Murgatroyd of Shakespeare's phrase, "Cut in alabaster"—only with a very different application.

Maud, with that indifference alike to conventionality and the possible effect of what she does, which often marks

DR. TALKS ON FOOD Pres. of Board of Health.

"What shall I eat?" is the daily inquiry the physician is met with. I do not hesitate to say that in my judgment a large percentage of disease is caused by poorly selected and improperly prepared food. My personal experience with the fully-cooked food known as Grape-Nuts, enables me to speak freely of its merits.

"From overwork, I suffered several years with malnutrition, palpitation of the heart, and loss of sleep. Last summer I was led to experiment personally with the new food, which I used in conjunction with good rich cow's milk. In a short time after I commenced its use, the disagreeable symptoms disappeared, my heart's action became steady and normal, the functions of the stomach were properly carried out and I again slept as soundly and as well as in my youth.

"I look upon Grape-Nuts as a perfect food, and no one can gainsay but that it has a most prominent place in a rational, scientific system of feeding. Anyone who uses this food will soon be convinced of the soundness of the principle upon which it is manufactured and may thereby know the facts as to its true worth." A Sure Corrective of Flatulency.—When the undigested food lies in the stomach it throws off gases causing pains and oppressor. In the stomachic region. The belching or eructation of these gases is offensive and the only way to prevent them is to restore the stomach to proper action. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do this. ## The Girl From the West

She Tamed the Haughty Youth From the East

By OTHO B. SENG.

Paul Alger looked firmly into Mrs. Elliott's face.

"You don't realize what you're asking, Aunt Ruth," irritably.

"I'm not asking," calmly. "I'm simply telling you what I expect of you. The girl will be here tomorrow. My will is made with these plans in view. If you don't fall in with them you're disinherited absolutely; that's all."

Alger rose.

"Aunt Ruth, you've been more than a mother to me, and I'd like to do everything I can to please you, but this is expecting too much. I must reserve the right to select my own wife."

Mrs. Elliott was stubbornly silent, and after a moment the young fellow said earnestly, "Aunt Ruth, give me the money to the girl if you want to, but don't let her come between you and me!"

"Don't talk to me, Paul," impatiently. "I shall give it to you two—whether or not at all!"

"Who is this girl," Alger demanded with heat, "that she should be thrust upon me in this style?"

"She is the daughter of my husband's brother. When this girl and my Frederick were little children the brothers promised each other that the children should marry when they were old enough. Frederick died, and after your mother's death I adopted you. You have taken Frederick's place in everything else. You must in this. Promise, Paul!"

"It is utterly impossible!" firmly.

"Paul," temptingly, "she is very pretty."

Alger smiled and shook his head.

"And, Paul," playing her trump card, "she is musical."

Mrs. Elliott was Alger's passion.

"Yes?" indifferently.

"Yes," emphatically. "She plays the violin."

"What insuperable presumption!" impatiently. "A girl from the wild west, brought up on a cattle ranch, you said. Doubtless she can ride a broncho or lasso a steer, but she shouldn't meddle with the violin. She probably never heard of Bach or Mendelssohn and wouldn't know a sonata from a sandwich. Aunt, I can fancy her bringing her violin in her arms and playing for the delectation of the other passengers in the Pullman. Ugh!"

"You refuse, then?"

"Most decidedly."

"Very well," icily. "I accept your decision as final."

The next day Alger from his desk in the library saw the girl as she entered the adjoining room, where Mrs. Elliott waited to greet her. She was tall and graceful, with a high bred air of ease that surprised him. Her voice was clear and well modulated.

"Upon my word," he muttered, "I expected her manner of speech to be a cross between a cowboy's yell and an Indian warwhoop."

He saw the servant come in with a violin case.

"Will madam have this in the music room or—"

"Oh, no; here." And Vera held out her hands.

"You brought this yourself, Vera?" Mrs. Elliott's tone held the slightest suggestion of annoyance.

"In my arms literally," laughed Vera. Alger in his dim corner smiled.

Vera gently placed the case on the floor and lifted out the instrument as tenderly as a mother lifts her babe.

"Oh, Aunt Ruth," fervently, "when you see it you will understand—my beautiful violin!"

She clasped it to her bosom with a gesture of tenderness. The beauty of the girl, the unaffected grace of her pose and her evident artistic appreciation stirred Alger to instant admiration.

He met the girl at dinner. She gave him one long, earnest look that he felt at once an inquiry and a challenge, and then she directed her conversation to Mrs. Elliott.

Alger was piqued. He was accustomed to more attention from young women. She related some of the incidents of her trip.

"We had a concert each evening. There were three girls in our Pullman coming to Boston to study music. They sang well."

"And you played, I suppose, Miss Elliott?" Alger could not forbear the question.

She turned her glance upon him briefly. "Oh, I scraped my little best," coolly.

Alger felt the rebuff, but he shot a triumphant glance at his aunt.

As the evening progressed Alger began to wish that he could win some pleasant look or word from the girl and to deeply resent his inability to do so.

"Will you play for us, Miss Elliott?" he asked, more humbly than was his habit.

She was about to decline, but Mrs. Elliott added quickly: "For me, Vera, dear. I am so anxious to hear you."

The instrument with which Vera returned to the room caught Alger's discriminating eye at once.

"Where did you get this, Miss Elliott?" almost abruptly as he recognized its rarity and value.

"It is a gift from my master. He had owned it for many years. He was also a Guarnerius and an Amati. But this was his 'sweetheart.' He always called it so."

"A master of the violin does not present the instrument he loves best—a Stradivarius almost beyond price—to a pupil who merely 'scrapes,'" thought Alger.

"Did he have many pupils, Miss Elliott?" experimentally.

"No one but myself. He is old and can no longer play. Age has stiffened his fingers. But he played once. Oh, how he could play! He taught me from a little child, and when I could play—to please him—he gave me this."

"Your teacher was a German?" tentatively.

"A Belgian," quietly. "Now you shall hear the voice of the Stradivarius."

She tuned the strings and played. There was certainty of chord fingering, a strength, an almost manliness, combined with emotional warmth, about her interpretation of the difficult Bach sonata that amazed Alger.

"Bach's D Minor Sonata is not for amateurs," he said gravely to his aunt. "Miss Elliott's gift is beyond question. She would rank with the great violinists of the present day."

"I think John possessed some musical ability," replied Mrs. Elliott serenely.

The girl raised her bow with an indescribable gesture of reverence. "My mother," proudly, "was a De Beriot. My master is my grandfather. I did not wish to seem to boast. He is Francis Auguste de Beriot."

"And this from the cattle ranch!" thought Alger.

As the days went by he found himself desperately in love with the girl and unable to win from her anything more than the most chilling courtesy.

He had not even the satisfaction of confiding in Mrs. Elliott. Once when he tried to speak of Vera, meaning to confess his love for the girl, his aunt interrupted him coldly. "Say no more, Paul. I accepted your decision as final, you will remember, and a later will leaves all I possess to the Home for Aged Men."

She swept angrily from the room. Alger stood for a moment as if stunned; then he laughed aloud. "That's good news! Now there's no money in the way, and I'll move heaven and earth to win the loveliest girl that ever—"

"Come out of the west," quoted a merry voice, and the portiers parted and Vera stepped from the window seat into the room.

Alger sprang forward hastily.

"Vera," eagerly, "you're known all the while that I love you!"

"A girl from the west, brought up on a cattle ranch?" she questioned, holding him back with her hand on his breast.

"I don't care where you're from, or anything else, if you'll only say you love me, Vera," pleadingly.

"A girl who doesn't know a sonata from a sandwich?" mischievously.

"Vera, forgive me for that and say you love me."

"Paul," seriously, "I've loved you ever since I was a little girl. See?" She drew a locket from her bosom and pressed back the cover.

Alger gazed in bewilderment. It was his own face that looked up at him.

"Aunt Ruth sent that to my father. I claimed it as mine and have worn it always."

"Vera," with his arms about her, "why have you been so cruel to me when I've tried so hard?"

"I feared you might propose to me to please Aunt Ruth and—because of the money."

"Here, here! What's all this about?" Aunt Ruth's voice sounded harshly at the door.

They turned toward her together.

"Vera has promised to marry me, Aunt Ruth."

"And my latest will!"—She fairly buried the words at them.

"We don't mind!" they cried together rapturously.

"—was never signed," added Aunt Ruth in a changed voice, and they heard her laughing as she softly closed the door and left them to their happiness.

Brigands in Skirts.

Robbers in Europe Who Dress Like Grand Opera Ballet Girls.

There are places in the world where women dress in men's clothing and men don women's apparel.

Even in Paris there are women dressed in cheap, coarse, masculine attire, working as teamsters and day laborers. While it is against the law, the police wink at the fact and allow them to earn peaceably their daily wages.

In Persia in some of the interior parts the women wear the strangest, oddest trouser garments. They seem to like them, too, from the fact that they cling to them in spite of all efforts to make them don feminine attire.

Then there are the Alpine dairy maids, who dress as men when they go about their work and look pretty, if we are inclined to take evidence from the numbers of men who yearly persuade them to cast off their masculine dress and put on more clinging costumes. But then their eyes are so bright and their cheeks so red that they couldn't really look homely in anything they might choose to wear.

Again, far in the north, where it is freezing cold most of the time and people dress to be comfortable and not to look pretty, the women are actually forced into trousers to keep warm.

The ancient women warriors always wore trousers. But their reasons were purely military. Besides, they were half masculine in manner and appearance and dressed to accentuate their qualities. They had to make themselves into fierce looking creatures to terrify the men on the opposing side, and from all accounts they succeeded admirably.

As for the stronger sex, there still seem to be men in existence who wear women's garb and enjoy it. In certain parts of Greece, Spain and Albania there are bands of desperate brigands who, when they are decked out for attacks on strangers or neighbors, look for all the world like grand opera ballet girls in their short, brightly colored skirts, which are made very full and sometimes even ruffled a bit. They seem tremendously proud of their attire, and rival bands strive to surpass each other in vividness of patterns and newness of styles.—Exchange.

Even in Paris there are women dressed in cheap, coarse, masculine attire, working as teamsters and day laborers. While it is against the law, the police wink at the fact and allow them to earn peaceably their daily wages.

In Persia in some of the interior parts the women wear the strangest, oddest trouser garments. They seem to like them, too, from the fact that they cling to them in spite of all efforts to make them don feminine attire.

Then there are the Alpine dairy maids, who dress as men when they go about their work and look pretty, if we are inclined to take evidence from the numbers of men who yearly persuade them to cast off their masculine dress and put on more clinging costumes. But then their eyes are so bright and their cheeks so red that they couldn't really look homely in anything they might choose to wear.

Again, far in the north, where it is freezing cold most of the time and people dress to be comfortable and not to look pretty, the women are actually forced into trousers to keep warm.

The ancient women warriors always wore trousers. But their reasons were purely military. Besides, they were half masculine in manner and appearance and dressed to accentuate their qualities. They had to make themselves into fierce looking creatures to terrify the men on the opposing side, and from all accounts they succeeded admirably.

As for the stronger sex, there still seem to be men in existence who wear women's garb and enjoy it. In certain parts of Greece, Spain and Albania there are bands of desperate brigands who, when they are decked out for attacks on strangers or neighbors, look for all the world like grand opera ballet girls in their short, brightly colored skirts, which are made very full and sometimes even ruffled a bit. They seem tremendously proud of their attire, and rival bands strive to surpass each other in vividness of patterns and newness of styles.—Exchange.

Disappearing Guns.

Ease With Which These Coast Defense Monsters Are Operated.

Three kinds of big guns are used on the coasts to defend us from hostile invaders. When a gun is fired over an embankment or parapet it is called a barbette. The earliest guns were of this order. The parapets were notched so that the firing could be done over their top. When the gun is discharged through a port or hole in the embankment it is called a casemate. The newest kind of heavy artillery is the disappearing gun, which drops back behind its wall as soon as it is discharged.

The man who aims the gun has a little platform to one side of the machine. Things are arranged so that he can control all operations of the gun from where he stands. Electricity is used for bringing the gun up and getting it into position, and all the mechanism can be regulated by the gunner. So wonderfully is the big machine under control that it cannot be fired by any person whomsoever unless it is raised up and in firing position. When it is not in firing position it is called "out of battery."

So nicely is the gun mounted that all its great mass can be handled by two men. From the time they start loading it until the gun is mounted and ready to fire only six seconds intervene. One of the big guns can discharge a thousand pound projectile every fifty-two seconds and put a battleship out of commission six miles away.—Exchange.

The Fastest Growing Tree.

Hard, fine grained, durable wood usually grows slowly. A most remarkable exception is the eucalyptus, and this it is that gives the tree its great value as a means of reforestation. It is said that the eucalyptus grows five times as rapidly as any other tree. Seedlings have been observed to make an average growth of six inches in height a day, and one tree in California attained a height of 125 feet and a diameter of thirty-six inches in nine years. The eucalyptus will not thrive where there are frosts, but in the south it promises to go a long way toward filling the place once occupied by other hardwoods, which have been greatly reduced by demands for furniture, carriage and cooperage stock.—Harper's.

Gave Himself Away.

During a football match in the north of England a spectator persisted in making loud remarks about the conduct of the referee. At last the official went up to him and said, "Look here, my man; I've been watching you for about the last fifteen minutes." "Aw thort so!" came the scathing reply. "Aw thort so! Aw knew very well 'ou wasn't watching 't game!"

RIPPING REPORTEE.

The Newcomer Put One Over on Her Neighbor.

REPORTEE is a delicate instrument, a fine product, a thing of hints, lights and shadows. Anybody who does not believe this please stand up. Apparently everybody agrees to the description. Wherefore there is now related the example of the crudest repartee ever indulged in by man or woman.

It was in a city which had risen to the dignity of having "fashionable suburbs," in which the inhabitants resented the arrival of people who "did not belong." One day there appeared in the community a woman who had lots of money and a fine and ornamental lack of tact in dealing with her neighbors. She called and called and called on the women in the suburb which was "fashionable," and, strange to relate, she could never find them "in."

One woman particularly disliked her and was never to be seen. At last the newcomer met the one who had avoided her in such marked manner.

"My dear," said the avoilder, "it is such a pity that when you call I am always out—always."

Responded she who had been snubbed:

"Out of your home—or your head?"—Popular Magazine.

Silenced.

Many a strange story is credited to Abraham Lincoln.

As a matter of fact, however, the great abolitionist once disclaimed credit for inventing stories. He said: "I don't make a story mine by telling it. I'm only a retail dealer." And to prove it he recited the following:

"There is a bright young slip of an attorney in southern Illinois who was trying a case in the district court. The prosecuting lawyer was a very large man, ponderous and likely to be overbearing in his attitude to the younger practitioners. In the course of his remarks the big man said: 'Why, your honor, counsel for the defense is so utterly insignificant that I could swallow him and his arguments at one gulp.'"

"I object to the remarks of the prosecutor!" interrupted the young attorney. "But I would like to say, your honor, if the attorney for the complainant was able to do what he affirms he would have more brains in his stomach than he has in his head."

—New York American.

Cautious.

I remember once hearing of a man—a farmer he was—over in the County Down. He was a great one for inventing—always turning out great ideas that were great failures. Naturally in a place like that he was the "great joke" of the countryside. Well, anyway, he invented a flying machine. It was really a pair of wings made from wire and hens' feathers.

He took a year to do it—secretly. But the night before he made his first attempt to fly, being both a hopeful and cautious man, he went round all the cottages within reach, and after sitting for a little while chatting, but never mentioning his great invention, he said in an offhand way before leaving:

"If any of yez sees a strange fukin' burrd flying about the country tomorrow for the love or goodness don't be shootin' at it!"—Bystander.

Prof. J. B. This, he said, is due to the gradual decay of the mountains' chemical formation.

Probably it is only a question of time when nature will so alter the planet that we will be unable to distinguish the face of the moon. Prof. Hale added:

MAY VISIT DOMINION

MISS BEATRICE HARRADEN IS AN UNMILITANT SUFFRAGIST.

Author of Ships That Pass in the Night Declares That Men Have Been Asleep For Several Generations and That Women Have Progressed—Favorite Reading is Hardy, Austen and Bible.

Beatrice Harraden, who a score or more years ago made a stir in the English-speaking world with her novel, "Ships That Pass in the Night," will probably visit Canada in the near future. Miss Harraden has some radical views on the suffrage question. She is not credited with being extremely militant to the extent of throwing stones, blowing up Government officials, kidnapping their children or burning the mails, but she says that women are better prepared than men to stand alone, that men have been asleep for several generations, while only women have progressed.

Biography is Miss Harraden's favorite reading, and the stories told by Thomas Hardy and Jane Austen her favorite novels. "And, of course, George Meredith's poems and Shelley, and, of course, that amazing book, the Bible," she declared recently. "But I don't read nearly so much as I used to do. For the moment active life interests me more than books, and I learn more by taking part in it than by contemplating it."

Books Nations Publish.

According to a Government return recently issued, the official history of the South African War cost £34,706.

This sounds a big sum, but it is quite small by comparison with that expended by the Germans on their official history of the Franco-Prussian War. This colossal work cost £240,000, and is illustrated by nearly one million maps and plans.

The official history of the Russo-Japanese War has only cost, so far, about £6,000; but then it is not nearly completed. The Americans, who usually do these things in style, spent $1,500,000 in illustrating and printing their official history of the great Civil War of 1861-65.

This is believed to be a world's record as regards expensive Government publications. In our own country, however, the record is held by the report of the Challenger Expedition. This was a scientific expedition for deep-sea sounding, and through it the world was first made aware of the existence of the deep-sea fishes—strange, wonderful creatures, some stone blind, others with eyes as big as saucers.

The report of this remarkable voyage fills some fifty volumes and 28,000 pages, and the cost was just on £90,000.

Body of Baby Found

The body of a new born infant was found on some brush land about nine miles west of town on Sunday last by Mr. Otto Kreger. The body was lying on a piece of sack. The little body was badly decomposed. Information was immediately brought to town and Dr. Reid, coroner, went out and viewed the remains, which were brought into town. It is supposed that the body had been exposed for about two weeks.

Corp. Augerman, R.N.W.M.P., of Innisfail came down on Monday to look into the case and the following gentlemen were subpoenaed for an inquest: Messrs. E. G. Reitzel, J. E. Liesemer, F. Francis, B. A. St. Clair, F. Moyle and J. V. Berscht. Dr. A. J. Weart was acting coroner in place of Mr. Reid who was indisposed.

After viewing the remains the inquest was adjourned until next Monday and in the meantime Coroner Reid and Dr. Weart will make a post mortem examination to determine the cause of death.

Gala Night for I.O.O.F.

Thursday evening last was a gala night for the local lodge of the I. O. O. F. It will also stand out in the history of the lodge as a new landmark for Oddfellowship in Didsbury, the cause being the opening and dedication of the handsome new lodge rooms for the purposes of the Order. The rooms have a cozy, home like appearance, and are a credit to the local members, who have spent a lot of time and put in some hard work in preparing the rooms. For the evening the officers' positions were decorated with white and pink carnations, which added greatly to the bright appearance of the rooms.

The Grand Lodge officers present from Calgary were H. R. Fairley, Grand Master; O. E. Tisdale, P.G.M., Grand Secretary; G. Adams, P.G., Grand Treasurer; Tully, P.G., Grand Organizer.

There were a large number of brethren from outside points present, Olds especially being well represented.

The evening's doings commenced with the exhumation of the initiatory degree by request of the Grand Master, who complimented the officers for the splendid way in which they put on the work. After this work was finished the members dispersed to bring in their wives, sweethearts and daughters for the dedication ceremony and the banquet. The addition of such a large number of ladies gave the meeting a still more bright and animated appearance and greatly added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The dedication ceremony was conducted by the Grand Lodge officers and visitors who carried out the proceedings in a very solemn and impressive manner. Mr. H. W. Chambers, P.G., was presented with the keys of the rooms as Trustee by the Grand Master Mr. Geo. Liesemer presided at the organ and rendered the music for the evening in a most satisfactory manner.

Canada West Trading Co.

Under the above name a general trading business is being opened in the store lately occupied by Mr. R. C. Robertson on Railway street, Didsbury. The stock of goods carried will be of sufficient variety to meet the demands of farmers, with whom we hope to do business, in the purchase of their produce, notably Butter and Eggs and Vegetables in the Spring and Summer and Fall and Dressed Meat and Poultry of all kinds in Winter and butter all the year round—and this stock we trust will suit the people of the town.

The goods which have arrived so far consist mainly of Brass and Iron Beds, Springs and Mattresses, Spreads and Pillows, Dressers, Carpet Squares, Art Rugs, Sideboards, Buffets and Chiffoniers, Decorated and Plain Dishes, Soaps, Cutlery, Cooking Stoves, Kitchen Fittings, Silverware and notions of many kinds.

Shipments of other things arriving daily among which there is a full line of Staple Groceries. By fair dealing and reasonable prices this concern hopes to merit a share of the trade of the Town and Country.

CANADA WEST TRADING CO.

ROBERTSON'S OLD STAND, RAILWAY STREET

After the proceedings in the lodge rooms all present adjourned to the Alexandra hotel where a fine banquet had been provided by the proprietors, Messrs. Findlay & Stevens, which it is needless to say received full justice by those present.

The banquet being disposed of a number of toasts were given, which included the following, H. W. Chambers making an efficient toastmaster: "The King," responded to by singing "God Save the King" by the company present; "The Grand Lodge," by R. H. Fairley, G.M.; "Sister Lodges," by H. E. Branscombe, Olds; "Rebecca," by O. E. Tisdale, P.G.M.; "On New Lodge Rooms," W. G. Liesemer, P.G.; "The Good of the Order," R. Earl, P.G. Olds; "The Past Grands," Tully, P.G., G.O.; "What Oddfellowship Means to a Stranger in a Strange Land," Ray Dowdell; "The Ladies," G. Adams, P.G., G.T. After the toast list was disposed of everybody left for home a tired but happy bunch after a very pleasant evening.

The Business Man and His Stationery

The merchant encourages us always to buy a good article in preference to that which may be cheapest—he is right, without doubt, but how often he fails to learn this lesson himself—especially in this noticeable in stationery—some envelopes which reach us through the mail are a disgrace to the sender.

We wonder if the merchant always understands that his business is measured oftentimes by the class of stationery he sends out—yes, even the quality of paper in the bills he renders—we venture to say that there is nothing which points out a business man's carelessness and general make up more plainly than the quality and style of the stationery he uses. It advertises his standard—it announces clearly to the public what class of goods they may expect at his store.

If the merchant sends out a wretched rag of a letterhead, envelope, invoice or statement, the public may reasonably expect the same quality and cheapness in the merchant's stock of goods.

Just think over the business firms you are acquainted with and notice the quality of their stationery.

And Mr. Business-man, think this over, too, and see that you do not suffer for proper attention to this sometimes neglected but very necessary detail.

Pure Bred Stock Distribution

Realizing that inability to secure the use of well bred male animals is at the present time one of the greatest difficulties standing in the way of live stock development in many parts of Canada, particularly in the newly settled districts the Dominion Department of Agriculture, through the Live Stock Branch, is this year undertaking a widespread distribution of purebred stallions, bulls, rams and hogs. The original cost of the animals will be borne by the Department and they will be placed in the hands of such local organizations as agree to the conditions governing the distribution. In a word these series will remain the property of the Department, but the local associations will be responsible for their proper maintenance and management under the general supervision of officers of the Live Stock Branch. In the case of stallions, the members of the associations will also be required to pay a fee covering an annual insurance premium.

All animals distributed will be bought from the home breeder and will be Canadian bred. As far as possible they will be purchased in the province in which they are to be placed. In this way Canadian breeders will receive encouragement and their market will be increased not only directly but also indirectly through the emphasis given throughout the country to the value of pure bred sires. It may be added that it is not the intention to place the animals in districts where suitable male animals of the same class are already owned by private individuals. The aim is rather to aid sections where pure bred sires are lacking and as well to encourage new communities in following a proper and intelligent system of breeding.

All bulls distributed will be purchased subject to the tuberculin test and only stallions which have passed a rigid veterinary inspection for soundness will be selected.

In order to take advantage of this form of assistance, it will be necessary for interested parties, in any section, to undertake the organization of a local association in whose hands such sires as are required may be placed. Complete information regarding the rules and regulations governing the distribution may be made upon application to the Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa. Whenever possible, an officer of the Branch will render assistance in the perfecting of the necessary local organization.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. ### National Forestry Convention

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian Forestry Association have announced July 7 to 9 as the date of the Dominion Forestry Convention to be held in Winnipeg. Arrangements are under way for what promises to be one of the most representative and successful gatherings ever held in the west. Delegates from all parts of Canada, and from many states of the Union, will convene in the Industrial Bureau Hall as guests of the Provincial Government and the City of Winnipeg, to discuss the problems of the forest resources of Canada.

The farmer's plantation, windbreaks and other phases of prairie tree growing will naturally occupy a large share of the attention of the delegates, but the protection of forests from fire and kindred topics will also be taken up.

The program which is now in preparation will be a most interesting one, and of this and of the convention railway rates to delegates, particulars may be had from James Lawler, Canadian Building, Ottawa.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. For sale by all dealers.

She Didn't Intend to
A middle-aged couple, made suddenly rich through an unexpected turn of fortune's wheel, were visiting the M. P. from their district at his Ottawa residence.
At breakfast the first morning after their arrival, the woman, nervously trying to chip off the top of her egg with her knife, attacked the problem with so much zeal that the egg was knocked out of the cup and rolled under the table. Not knowing just what was the proper thing to do under the circumstances she nudged her husband.

This went on for a while, till a fellow-countryman rushed forward and asked: Mon, d'ye think ye're in the streets of Glesca, that ye gang about like a madman crying grossets?
Ech! replied the hawker, with a sense of relief, ye're just the man I was looking for. D'ye ken the way to the — Hotel?

Expensive Encores
A good story is being told about a fashionable New York woman who recently engaged Mme. S., of the Metropolitan Opera to sing at one of her receptions. It was arranged that two songs should be furnished, at $100 per song. Mme. S. sang so well that the delighted guests demanded more, and were referred by the songstress to their hostess.
The latter looked rather unhappy, but having no choice in the matter, was compelled to give orders for another song—and yet another, and another, until Mme. S. had scored eight in all—each at $100 each, was not a bad night's work.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little one. They act as a gentle laxative, sweeten the stomach, break up colds and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Landry, Upper Caraque, N.B., says: "Baby's Own Tablets were of great benefit to my little boy and I would advise all mothers with sickly children to give them a trial." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Never Again

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MAKING A REPUTATION IN THE WEST

Saskatchewan Man Tells How They Cured Him, After Four Months' Suffering from Backache and Other Forms of Kidney Disease

St. Philips, Sask., (Special).—In a new country where changes of climate and impure water are among the difficulties to be surmounted, kidney trouble is prevalent. It is the kidneys, the organs that strain the impurities out of the blood, that first feel any undue strain on the body. Consequently Dodd's Kidney Pills have been well tried and tested in this neighborhood.

They have stood the test. Many settlers tell of backache, rheumatism and urinary troubles cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Otto Olschewski is one of these. In speaking of his cure he says:

"I suffered from kidney disease for four months. My back ached, I had heart flutterings, and was always tired and nervous. My skin had a harsh, dry feeling; my limbs were heavy; and I had a dragging sensation across the loins.

"I consulted a doctor, but, as I did not appear to improve, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I used six boxes, and now I am all right."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always stand the test. Ask your neighbors.

His Request
So you have determined to sue me for breach of promise?

Yes.
With damages.

Of course.

Well, say, I've got just one favor to ask of you. Don't sue me for less than $100,000. I haven't got a dollar in the world that I can call my own, and it might help my credit.

Anaemic Condition or Bloodlessness
A peculiar pallor or even ghastliness of the skin is the marked symptom of anaemia. The eyelids, gums and lips appear to be almost bloodless. The cause of this condition is the absence of red corpuscles from the blood.
The anaemic patient is usually thin and weak, but may be fleshy and inclined to dropy. Stomach troubles and weakness of the bodily organs are accompaniments.
Red corpuscles must be added to the blood, and this can best be accomplished by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
This great food cure is so gentle and natural in action that it is admirably suited for the use of women and girls suffering from anaemia or other diseases which arise from an impoverished condition of the blood. It is readily assimilated, enters the blood streams and carries health and strength to every organ of the body.
The vigor of the digestive system is quickly restored, and the food taken into the body is properly digested and nourishment supplied to the whole system.
To get well and keep well you must supply the body with an abundance of pure, rich blood. Nothing can help you so well as

School Sports Great Success

The High and Public School sports were pulled off on Friday afternoon last at the school grounds and in spite of the showy, cool weather they were a splendid success. There was a large attendance of parents and visitors present to witness the prowess of the scholars in the different events and it is safe to say that not one present but hopes that the event will be made an annual affair, not only for the sake of the scholars but also for the reason that it proved to be a regular get-together social time.

The hard work put in by the teaching staff in preparation for the event is greatly to be commended and they can rest assured that those present appreciated their efforts in getting up such a good time for the youngsters. The ladies also deserve a little praise for the excellent luncheon which they provided for the scholars and visitors after the sports had been completed.

The programme consisted of thirty-six events and each one of them was well contested, some good material for athletics being brought out.

The Basket Ball game between teams from the Didsbury High School and Olds school girls was well contested and was the source of great attention and applause from the spectators. The game was won by the Didsbury girls with a score of 16 points to 6, and this should be considered a great victory as the Olds girls had never been beaten in any games they had played before. The home team had a little advantage through being a little taller than the other team, although the visitors lost the game more through poor judgment in distance, several times losing a score through the ball being thrown too high and bouncing back again. The line up of the teams were as follows: Didsbury—Misses E. Moyle, H. Wiegand, J. Filley, L. Shantz, M. Moon.

A game of football between Didsbury and Carstairs schools was scheduled but for some reason the Carstairs team did not show up so it was decided that a game should be played between the old men present and the youngsters. (Here's where the boys had a chance to get back at their fathers by kicking their shins.) The rules of the game were not strictly adhered to but all the same the game was an exciting one, there being about twenty players to a side, in fact almost every male person on the grounds jumping in and having a good time. Old war horses like A. G. Steiner, W. G. Liesemer, G. B. Semsmith, Dr. Weart, Reed Bros., Prin. Reid, and others taking a hand for the old men, while the ranks of the boys were filled with a number of the present day football enthusiasts. Altogether it was some game and created a great deal of good feeling and fun, not only amongst the players but amongst the spectators as well. This ended the afternoon's sports and as before stated it was a regular get-together afternoon.

Didsbury Lost First Game, Score 7-8

The first baseball game of the season was played on Tuesday evening at the park between Didsbury and Crossfield. The game was an exciting one, both teams showing up well for the first game of the season. There was no score in the first three innings of the game; in the fourth Crossfield started the score with one run, put another one over in the fifth and two in the sixth, when their pitcher went to pieces and Didsbury scored six in the seventh inning. The local boys met their Waterloo in the eighth, which was the last as the Crossfield boys had to catch the south bound train. In this inning the home team made one and the visitors four.

There was a fairly good crowd of rooters present for both teams, quite a number coming up from Crossfield and Carstairs.

Mr. Pirie was elected manager of the local team at a meeting held last week.

The season opened in Didsbury with a parade of the teams, headed by the Citizens Band.

The line-up of the Didsbury team was as follows: S. Reiber, c.; W. Schmidt, p.; E. G. Grant, 1b.; D. Whitehead, 2b.; G. Howe, 3b.; W. Dugdale, c. s.; A. Blue, L.F.; H. Wiegand, r. f.; L. Gould, center.
